Salem Funerals and Cremations Health and Wellness Considerations for COVID-19

As you know there is an unfolding health concern around the Coronavirus (COVID-19) in the United States and it is of utmost importance to us that our office remains a safe, clean, and comfortable place for your family and guests.

During an already difficult time, we want to ensure you that we, at Salem Funerals and Cremations, are taking actions to ensure the cleanliness of our buildings so that your family can focus on the celebration of your loved one’s life and your personal healing.

In our buildings, we are cleaning and sterilizing all public spaces multiple times day. In addition to cleaning the larger spaces, we are cleaning the doorknobs, bathrooms, counters, our chapels and our cars multiple times a day.

During your service, you will find hand sanitizers located in all of our public places for the times that you are not able to wash your hands.

If you feel it would be useful, we have surgical masks available. While we understand that surgical masks do not prevent the spread of the virus, they do prevent you from touching your mouth and nose, which has been an advisable precaution against this virus.

It is an honor and a privilege to support your family. We will continue to get updates through our governing board, N.C Board of Funeral Service in addition to following the guidelines set before us from OSHA and the CDC.

Please view these websites for further information

North Carolina Board of Funeral Service
https://ncbfs.org/
OSHA
https://www.osha.gov/SLTC/covid-19/controlprevention.html#deathcare
CDC

Thank you for allowing us the opportunity to be of service,

John M. Vogler
Owner and Funeral Director
Salem Funeral and Cremation